

Adolescent Girls

Adolescent girls will change how they feel about activities and obligations, and this change can contribute to their development of identity

Despite recent strong female role models, many adolescent girls feel pressured to conform to gender roles seen in media

Many young girls show an interest in everything. But, in adolescence they focus more on what they are struggling with instead of what they can achieve

