

Key Facts for parents on Bullying

1/3 of all school children will be victims of bullying at least once.

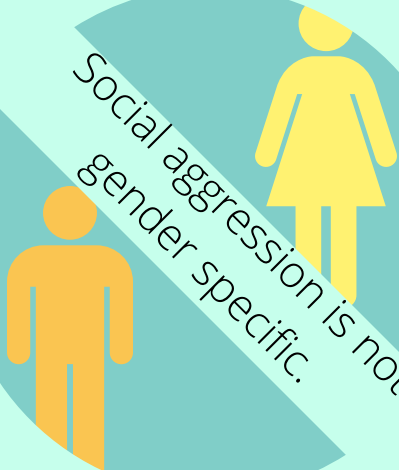

A warm home environment is essential in promoting the emotional resilience of youth.

Children who grow up in homes with harsh punishment and authoritarian parents are more likely to become bullies.

Social aggression is not gender specific.

The type of bully changes as youth transition through the school years.

